International Affairs Fellowship in International Economics

CFR Seeking Fellowship Applicants for New Economics Fellowships

CFR’s International Affairs Fellowship in International Economics, sponsored by Kimberly Querrey, provides the next generation of economic scholars and business economist hands-on experience in the policymaking field.

Through the program, selected fellows expand their range of thinking and apply their work to international economic policy. Possible placements for the fellowship include but are not limited to the U.S. Department of the Treasury, U.S. Department of Commerce, the Federal Reserve Bank, and relevant parts of the U.S. Department of State. The duration of the fellowship is 6-9 months, and a stipend in the range of $150,000 to $180,000 is awarded along with relocation assistance.

“Seeing economic research applied to policy action and also be part of it are the best gifts ever! Thank you CFR.”

— Sebnem Kalemli-Ozcan, Neil Moskowitz Professor of Economics, University of Maryland (2017-2018 IAF in International Economics)

The fellowship is only open to mid-career business economists and university-based economics scholars (open-rank) who have demonstrated commitment to a career in international economics or a related field. Qualified applicants must be U.S. citizens and hold a PhD in economics or a closely related discipline.

Apply online by October 31, 2018. Official selections will be made by December 2018. Questions can be directed to fellowships@cfri.org.
