Econ 477a. Confronting Poverty and Inequality: Insights from South Africa

Day / time: TBA
Course Type: Undergraduate
Course term: Fall
Not offered
Year: 2014
Instructor(s): Francis Wilson

Permission of instructor required

How can South Africa most effectively overcome poverty and inequality? To understand how the economy has been shaped to date, we will dig deep into the roots of South Africa’s history. Will discuss how strategies informed by South Africa’s history can be applied to other currently industrializing economies.

Semester offered: Not offered
Undergrad Course Category: Development
Poverty

Source URL: https://economics.yale.edu/courses/econ-477a-confronting-poverty-and-inequality-insights-south-africa