

Social Networks in Development Economics

Subject Code (deprecated): ECON

Course Number: 479

Section Number: 01

Description:

The effects of social networks on economic outcomes in developing countries, including the mechanisms by which such effects are created. Focus on social networks as conduits for information flows and for monetary flows. Attention to the strategies of data collection and analysis necessary for the study of economic interactions among individuals and households.

Instructor(s) from Econ Site: Staff

Term Code: 202001

Category from Feed: YCSO

Source URL: <https://economics.yale.edu/undergraduate/courses/479/202001>