Yale Research Data Center Presentation October 20th

Wednesday, October 12, 2016

The Cowles Foundation, in partnership with the Yale School of Management, is proud to sponsor an information session about the Yale Research Data Center (YRDC) on Thursday, October 20 from 11:00 a.m. - 12:00 p.m. at Linsly-Chittenden Hall (LC), room 102, located at 63 High Street. Light refreshments will be provided. Due to limited seating registration is required; please RSVP on this sign-up page.

YRDC is a branch of the New York Research Data Center which is a Federal Statistical Research Data Center. Federal Statistical Research Data Centers are partnerships between federal statistical agencies and leading research institutions, and are secure facilities providing authorized access to restricted-use microdata for statistical purposes only.

The guest speakers will be Negasi T. Beyene from the Center for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC), and Shirley H. Liu, Economist and Administrator for the New York Federal Statistical Research Data Centers, Baruch Center for Economic Studies, U.S. Census Bureau.

Mr. Beyene will present the array of Nation Centers for Health Statistics (NCHS) datasets and address specific questions about each, including the National Health Interview Survey (NHIS). Ms. Liu will give an overview of the YRDC and the Census Bureau partners. She will also discuss available nonpublic data and datasets, as well as, the proposal and access criteria in using the Census Bureau data. The presentation is geared toward faculty and graduate students, with a slant toward those in the health-related fields, but is open to the wider Yale community.

YRDC opened in June 2015 and is located at 37 Hillhouse Avenue. The center is led by Dr. Peter Schott, Executive Director, Professor of Economics at the Yale School of Management, and a Research Associate of the National Bureau of Economic Research, and Stephanie Bailey, RDC Administrator and Survey Statistician. For more information, visit the YRDC page.
