Research Associate

The Economic Research Department at the Federal Reserve Bank of Kansas City is recruiting for the position of Research Associate.

Key Activities Include:
• Working with Ph.D. economists on academic research projects and monetary policy briefings.
• Gathering and analyzing data, programming economic models, and preparing briefings on economic and financial conditions.
• More experienced Research Associates participate in research targeted at peer-reviewed journals, write for Bank publications, and deliver speeches to civic and educational groups.

These are excellent positions for someone considering a Ph.D. in economics.

Research Associates build significant human capital, including developing technical skills and learning about a broad range of research topics. Most Research Associates stay with the department for two to three years and then return to graduate school. In recent years, Research Associates have gone on to Ph.D. programs at Boston College, New York University, Stanford University, University of Chicago, University of Michigan, and University of Minnesota.

The anticipated duration of this position is for two years.

Required Education and Skills:
• Bachelor’s or master’s degree in economics or a closely related field, such as statistics, computer science, or mathematics.
• Coursework or experience in econometrics, math, statistics, statistical software, and quantitative modeling software is highly desirable.
• Very strong academic record.
• High proficiency with personal computers and spreadsheet software.
• Excellent communication skills.
