Research Assitant

I'm a soon-to-be Princeton postdoc (recent Yale economics PhD) working on international trade and trade policy, and I'm looking for an undergraduate research assistant over the summer (preferably starting July 1, but sooner is possible). Hours and total time commitment are negotiable. Programming or prior RA experience a plus but not required. I take mentoring seriously and would do my best to help develop software skills (STATA) and economic intuition. Please contact me at matthew.grant@yale.edu with a CV and unofficial transcript if interested.
