

I am very good at math: the math department has placed me in Math 230 (or above). Does this affect the economics course that I should take my first year?

Not directly, but please come talk to the DUS during the fall semester. We may be able to advise you already on good economics options to take after your first year, and you may want to talk about the math-econ major.

Source URL: <https://economics.yale.edu/i-am-very-good-math-math-department-has-placed-me-math-230-or-above-does-affect-economics-course-i>