Econ 125a. Microeconomic Theory

Day / time: T/Th 9:00 - 10:15 am
Course Type: Undergraduate Course term: Fall
Instructor(s): Ryota Iijima

Core course

Similar to Econ 121 but with a more intensive treatment of consumer and producer theory, and covering additional topics including choice under uncertainty, game theory, contracting under hidden actions or hidden information, externalities and public goods, and general equilibrium theory. Recommended for students considering graduate study in economics.

After introductory economics, and MATH 118 or 120 or equivalent. May not be taken after Econ 121.

Semester offered: Fall
Undergrad Course Category: Core Microtheory

Source URL: https://economics.yale.edu/courses/econ-125a-microeconomic-theory