

Kenneth Rogoff is Thomas D. Cabot Professor of Public Policy and Professor of Economics at Harvard University. From 2001-2003, he served as Chief Economist and Director of Research at the International Monetary Fund, and is also a former Director of the Center for International Development at Harvard. He is an elected member of the American Academy of Arts and Sciences as well as the Econometric Society, and a fellow of the World Economic Forum. He has published widely on a broad range of topics in international finance including central bank independence, exchange rates and international debt. Rogoff holds the life title of international grandmaster of chess.