

Research Fellow – Yale Law School

Details

- Two full-time positions available.
- Position begins July 2017 in New Haven, CT. Fellowships last for one year, with an option to renew for a second year by mutual agreement of the professor and the fellow.
- Salary will be competitive with other full-time research fellowship and research assistant positions.

Description

Ian Ayres, the William K. Townsend Professor at Yale Law School, and Zachary Liscow, Associate Professor at Yale Law School, are seeking two empirical research assistants to assist with law and economics research projects. Day-to-day work will include brainstorming, undertaking literature reviews, retrieving and collecting data (often with other researchers), constructing datasets, performing econometric analysis in Stata, generating tables and graphs, and proofreading and drafting. Work also may include implementing field experiments and conducting surveys.

Previous Fellows have gone on to attend top law schools, enroll in PhD programs, and win prestigious fellowships.

Professor Ayres's recent research has included work on innovation policy, behavioral economics, corporate finance and law, civil rights, and contract law. For more on his research interests and publications, visit his Web site, <http://www.ianayres.com>.

Professor Liscow's research focuses on tax law and policy and law and economics. For more on his research interests and publications, visit his Web site, <https://www.law.yale.edu/zachary-liscow>.

Qualifications

- B.A. or M.A. in Economics/Statistics (or equivalent)
- Strong econometrics background and experience programming in Stata. Python programming experience a plus.

Application Process

Please send a resume, cover letter, an unofficial transcript, and the contact details of two or three academic references, together as one PDF document, to michael.loughlin@yale.edu with the subject line "Ayres/Liscow RF: [Last Name]".

Applications will be considered on a rolling basis. Please do not hesitate to contact Michael, at the email address above, with questions about the position.
